EMPORIA. VA., Dec. 3.—Society was out in full force hast night at the Armory Hall to witness a double oill by a company of popular annateurs, including the little plays Barbara and the Marble Arch. Both plays were well received. The work of Miss Rose Baker, Miss Both Turner, and Messrs, Taylor, Lee, and Cobb deserved much prayse, while the other members of the cast acquitted themselves with credit in their respective roles.

The entertainment was given in behalf of the Emporia Baptist Church.

MONTEREY, VA., Dec. 3.—Game is abundant in Highland this fall, a fact that is apparent from the offerings on the Monter'sy market. This applies to small game, especially birds, rather than large. Quall are said to be more plentiful than for many years. A gentleman from the eastern side of the county reports line sport over there and relates an unusual occurrence which terminated a lively deer chase a few days age. The game, a fine 14e-pound buck, had been driven to the river, cluded the pack, and returned again to the mountain. He underlook to descend a precipitious, rocky spur, lost his footing, and was found with a broken heck at the base of the cliff. Our informant says that, in all his experience, he has never seen this sure-footed nulmal most such a fate. Dr. Frazier, of the First Prosbyterian Church, Staunton, and Rev. Mr. Raiston, of Hebrott, were in Monterey several days this week.

Many tracts of timber land have been purchased recently by gentlemen representing the proposed railroad up the Bull pasture river from some point on the Chesapsake and Ohe. They claim to have been very successful in their offorts to secure timber, but I have been unable to learn whether the deal is a straight-put purchase or in the form of an option.

Report of Yerkes Shows That There Was No Loss of Life Last Year.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3 .- That ancient feud between the moonshiner and "revenue's" has its record in many the "revenue's" has its record in many a notehed gun-stock, but according to the annual report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, John W. Yerkes, no officer of the government lost his life during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901. But one man was wounded, Deputy Collector George T. Rives being shot while on a raid near Marysville, Va., November 22, 1903.

During the year there were 985 illicit distillerits selzed and destroyed, 32 selzed and removed and 291 arrests were made, Georgia led the list of moonshining States, with a total of 369 stills selzed and 28 arrests made in the year. North Carolina came next with 525 stills selzed and 28 selzures and 8 arrests. In Tennessee there were 32 selzures and 16 arrests. In Alabama there were 130 stills destroyed and 82 'shiners arrested. The total expense of the year in apprehending and prosecuting illicit distillers was $75,419.59.

Fewer Fatal Affrays.

Fewer Katal Affrays.

The loss of life by officers in the revonue service is not what it was twenty years ago, although the iniwary revenue man is by no means safe in certain mountain localities. In the fiscal year of 1903, there were 1.588 seizures and 1.396 arrests, the greatest number of any year, yet no casualities to officers were reported. In 1902, there were 1.048 seizures and 1.036 arrests. One officer was killed, Marshall Holsonback being shot in Marshall county, Ala., on January 11.

shall Price was made a cripple for life, and indeed was left for dead on the scene of the battle with the moonshiners. Cord Mackle was also badly wounded.

In 1901 two officers were killed and four wounded. Deputy Collector, John F. Lanler, was killed in Alabama. Deputy Marshall, A, S. Waitley, was killed; and W. A. Hess was wounded in Lincoln county, Georgia; John H. Chapman and Charles Gee were wounded in Northhampton county, North Carolina. Years ago the casualty list was much larger and the number of arrests smaller. In 1878 there were fewer than 800 selzures, yet S men were killed and 17 wounded.

Not What It Once Was.

Not What It Once Was.

Modern moonshining is not nearly so romantic as the old time manufacture of "mountain dew." The 'shiner of old would defend his still with his life and a "location" and a raid meant a battle. Nowadays the moonshiner thinks dis-cretion the better part of valor and when the revenue men find him out he de-Moonshining is no longer a strictly mountain business either. Four stills were destroyed and six arrests were made in the city of Philadelphia last year. were destroyed and six arrosts were made in the city of Philadelphia last year. Now York, Chicago, New Haven, and Concord are other places where the revenue officers made raids and found illegal liquor trickling through an unlawful worm into a vat that knew not the sanctity of governmental protection. These moonshiners were all wise enough, when discovered, to make no armed resistance. Probably they could not understand the sentimental side of moonshining which makes a Georgia cracker or a Kentucky mountainer willing to give up his life in defence of what he believes to be his right to turn his own grain into whiskey.

Eastern Kentucky and East Tennessee are coming to be prohibition districts now and many mountain counties that were once the haunts of the boot-legger are now "dry" by virtue of the popular will expressed in local option elections in Kentucky and through the medium of the four-mile law in Tennessee.

Maybe the mountaineer's prejudice against taxed whiskey has been an agent of temperance.

WARRENTON, VA.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WARRENTON, VA., Dec. 3.—Farmers near Orlean were surprised to see a stag with large antiers emerge from a forest belonging to Mrs. E. M. Braxton, and est belonging to Mrs. E. M. Braxton, and then with the speed of the wind make his way to the mountains. The story is given full credit, as Dr. R. C. Buck himself confirms it. It is his opinion, however, that the animal was one which had escaped from Portner's park near Manassas, or was chassed from the wilderness in Spotsylvania, where they abound. The drag held during the first part of the week was a rare one, so far as sport wos concerned. The course was laid over the field, who maintained a remarkable pace during the entire run. Among the first to finish were Miss Mary Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Maddux, Miss Lucy Stone W. & Sowers, and John S. Gaines, all immediately behind U. D. Benner, master of hounds.
